

Hantschel Will Represent State At Soldier Memorial

Appleton War Veteran Chosen to Attend Service at Arlington Cemetery

IMPRESSIVE WAR RECORD

Young Man Will Go To Washington as Guest of United States Government

Picked from a long list of Wisconsin heroes of the World war, an Appleton soldier, Sgt. John Hantschel, 820 South Division-st., has been chosen by President Harding to represent the entire state of Wisconsin at the public funeral in the capitol building in Washington Nov. 11, armistice day, for the "unknown soldier."

This announcement which does such high honor to Appleton and to an Appleton veteran, was made by E. J. Barrett, Sheboygan, state commander of the American legion at the meeting of Oney Johnson post in Elk hall Monday evening. More than four hundred former service men who were gathered in the hall, hailed the announcement with an ovation that bespoke Mr. Hantschel's popularity.

President Harding instructed the secretary of war to select one man from each state to represent all the former service men of that state at the ceremonies where the United States pauses to pay tribute to all fallen heroes of the European struggle as France and England did. John G. Emery, national commander of the American legion was asked to select the men for the government.

War Record. Submitted Hantschel's name was proposed and his war record submitted. Commander Barrett approved the choice and the government has confirmed the nomination. The Appleton veteran will have all his expenses paid when he makes the Washington trip clad in his overseas uniform.

Gen. John J. Pershing is in France now arranging to have the body of a soldier brought to the United States and will accompany the casket home. The body will lie in state in the rotunda of the capitol from Nov. 8 to 11. At 8:30 armistice day, funeral services will be held. They will be attended by the president and cabinet members of the supreme court, a committee from congress, Gen. Pershing and staff, Admiral Mayo and staff, Gen. LeGueun and staff, and other notable of the nation. The body will be buried beneath the memorial arch in Arlington national cemetery.

Hantschel has been in military service since 1911, when he enlisted with the local company of the Wisconsin national guard. He served two enlistments and was with Company G. at the Mexican border. When the World war came on he reenlisted and left for France Oct. 17, 1917 with Company A. One-hundred thirty Machine Gun Battalion (Rainbow division) in the rank of sergeant.

Loves Leg in Service. Through the terrible battles in the Lorraine sector for 110 days where the forty-second division repulsed the Germans, Hantschel emerged unscathed. He then went into the Champagne sector, where his comrades, where some of the most horrible fighting of the war took place. It was here that Hantschel showed repeated gallantry in action. With the men who held outpost positions, it was the fifth great German offensive where mass attacks were attempted. The Germans were so close in such hordes that the fighting was hand to hand with the butts of guns.

Withstanding this siege, the Appleton hero was transferred to the Chateau-Thierry sector, where the Rainbow division made itself famous in history. Hantschel was leading a squad across Oise river, trying to seek the location of the enemy so his company could open fire. He found the Germans, much closer than he ever anticipated, for a barrage burst forth that scattered his heroes. Here Hantschel had his leg shot off. With only the first aid that could be given by the medical corps in the jaws of death, the soldier lay on the battlefield for 24 hours until a lull in the battle and the darkness made it possible for his comrades to carry him to safety. He reached a hospital, but his rugged constitution pulled him through. Hantschel had two brothers in the service, Arthur and Erwin, who also were wounded.

IRISH PREPARING FOR WAR IF THEY DON'T GET PEACE

"Republican" Army Shows Promise Despite Conditions Under Which It Drills

Dublin.—While Sinn Fein's politicians pushed forward plans for peace, her troops Tuesday were preparing for possible war.

In the heart of the mountains, hidden from "English spies" the United Press correspondent watched the first and second battalions of the Irish republican army drill, parade and maneuver under the staccato commands of officers and non-coms trained in France.

In a drizzling rain 700 Sinn Fein troops went through militarism maneuvers that would have been creditable to men trained under less unfavorable conditions.

Few were in uniform. The "brigadier" in command wore a second lieutenant's khaki and a Sam Brown belt, but for the most part the troops were indistinguishable from the average Irish youth. Most of them wore the black blouson hat that denoted a Fenian in the fugitive days.

At the end of a long day when the setting sun broke through the clouds for a minute and sent long shadows of the towering Dublin mountains over the little plateau known as "Sleepy Gap," they swept past a huge black rock that served as a reviewing stand, file by file, with military precision, while Chief of Staff Richard Mulcahy took the salute.

Then the battalions were drawn up in a hollow square like the Irish guards of old and Mulcahy congratulated them on their showing.

LUMBER MILL FIRE WILL CAUSE $100,000 LOSS

By United Press Leased Wire. Milwaukee.—Firemen were still fighting a fire at the Ellis Lumber company plant which broke out early Tuesday morning. Fanned by a brisk north wind, the flames were threatening nearby buildings.

PROBLEMS BEFORE ARMS PARLEY TO BE DIFFICULT ONES

Nations Define Issues They Would Like to Have Solved at Coming Conference

By A. L. Bradford. By United Press Leased Wire. Washington, D. C.—An authoritative summary of the programs the big powers expect to stand by in the conference on limitation of armaments was obtained Tuesday by the United Press.

The programs indicated that big difficulties lie ahead of the conference and that this country must steer the parley through a maze of conflicting aims and prejudices.

The summary of the programs follows:

United States: This government sincerely desires an agreement among the nations for limitation of naval armaments. It would also limit land armaments. It is found to be practically, and wants the new agencies of warfare controlled as far as possible.

The United States also wants to reach a frank agreement with the powers on principles and policies to govern its actions in the Far East. Great Britain: This nation wants a satisfactory solution of the question of renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, one that will satisfy the opposition of the United States to this pact.

Great Britain also would like to have the question of the allied debt of $11,000,000,000 to the United States settled. Japan: This empire does not intend to have her "place in the sun" in the Far East dimmed by the conference.

France: Wants to trade her agreement to a limitation of land armaments for some guarantee by the powers of her security against another attack by Germany. China: Aside from the individual ambitions and schemes of her statesmen, China is expected to make a great effort to shake off foreign control.

AMPLIFIERS WILL CARRY MESSAGE

By United Press Leased Wire. Washington, D. C.—When President Harding delivers his address over the body of the unknown American soldier at Arlington cemetery two minutes past noon on November 11, his voice will be carried clearly and distinctly by long distance wires to New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

According to plans for the ceremony announced by the war department Tuesday.

In those cities the address will be heard through the agency of so-called "loud speakers" by vast audiences.

In addition four speakers hidden in and about the amphitheater at Arlington will enable anyone within half a mile of the president in Washington to hear his words plainly.

Weaver left home early Monday to hunt ducks. It is believed his automatic gun was discharged accidentally while he was climbing over a fence.

His widow is a member of the Madison school board.

They Docked Her For Every Little Thing

By United Press Leased Wire. San Francisco, Calif.—Whether Mary Miles Minter, film star, can collect $4,125 which she claims the American Film company "docked" her for salary because she washed her hair and had a toothache, was the heavy question which the federal circuit court of appeals had before it Tuesday.

A jury in Los Angeles ordered the film company to pay Mary that amount and the company appealed.

Here are some of the things Mary alleged: That she was "docked" $187.50 when she washed her hair one morning and it wouldn't photograph that day the same as it did the day before.

That she was "docked" still more when she had a toothache and her face swelled up.

And that still more of her salary was withheld when she laughed right into the lens of a camera when the director told her to cry.

The company, in reply, explained that it had hired all the available hair dressers to comb Mary's hair without results; that it isn't proper for a film star to laugh when ordered to cry; and that Mary was altogether too temperamental.

At prohibition enforcement headquarters, it was said there would be no unusual activity because of the world's series crowds.

MONEY TALK TO BE KEPT OUT OF ARMS PARLEY

United States Intends to Talk Disarmament, Not Payment of War Debts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—Reports and rumors keep recurring that coincident with the armament conference there will be a gathering of financiers of all the powers to settle the question of war debts. Department of state officials today pronounced these stories as without foundation so far as this government is concerned.

"Everything under the sun" would be discussed if all the suggestions being made were to be acted upon, in the opinion of government officials who point out that the agenda already made public indicates the scope of the conference.

There is evidence that the international financiers of European countries are behind the constant suggestion of a financial parley, although less involving the conference bankers are reported as interested. This, however, is taken here to mean that European financiers are urging action through their American connections.

For the fact is the American banking groups, as such, have not asked our government to convene a financial conference and there is little likelihood that such a suggestion would meet with favor.

Many reasons can be given for the prevalence of this attitude. First, there was a good deal of criticism when our government included far eastern problems in a discussion of armament limitation. Some members of the cabinet feared that to include so troublesome a question as relations with Japan might involve the conference in endless discussion which would only force into the background the real object of the gathering, namely, a reduction of armament. This viewpoint has been answered by Secretary Hughes by arranging the agenda so that discussion of armament will go on concurrently with the tackling of Pacific problems. In other words committees will work on all parts of the agenda at the same time and the reports will be taken up in no set order.

As for including financial questions, the feeling is that the agenda of the conference already "bites off as much as it can chew" and war debts might only produce antagonisms and disappointments which might affect the success of the other conferences. European nations may not as yet be convinced of it but the truth is our government is not in the mood to talk through the agency of a committee on all parts of the agenda at the same time and the reports will be taken up in no set order.

GRAIN MEN OPPOSE FARMER BODIES

Chicago Convention Splits Over Move to Deal With Cooperative Companies

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—The question of farmer cooperative grain marketing societies caused a big fight among delegates to the convention of Grain Dealers' National association here Tuesday.

The session was marked by spirited debates among delegates on whether or not to exclude from the organization all dealers who accept at their elevators grain of cooperative societies.

A movement was launched to amend the by-laws so that any member who accepted cooperative grain would automatically be expelled from the association.

Decision on the proposition is expected to come Wednesday. Delegates seemed evenly divided on the issue.

WANTED INSURANCE TO PAY FOR AUTO

Witness Testifies to Purchase of Flypaper by "Woman Bluebeard"

By Robert A. Donaldson. Twin Falls, Idaho.—Additional state's evidence which prosecutors claimed would show Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "female bluebeard," poisoned her fourth husband to obtain his $10,000 life insurance, was presented at her trial Tuesday.

Frank Stephan, district attorney, declared he would show Mrs. Southard needed the money to complete payment on an auto she had purchased.

H. Granville Haight, manager of a ranch who indorsed Mrs. Southard's note, said she told him she would have $10,000 when she sold some Montana land.

The state contends Mrs. Southard had no land, and was counting on her husband's insurance to meet the obligation.

Kultur, Not Husbands, Is Her Chief Pastime

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—Kultur and general disarms Tuesday kept the public from further word of the separation of Har- old F. McCormick and his wife, the daughter of John D. Rockefeller.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick slipped from her home on the "Gold Coast" Tuesday and went into conference with the corps of Teutonic psychologists who occupy a whole floor in Chicago's most expensive hotel.

Out at Lake Forest, McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, was surrounded by a score of uniformed guards. He was "not at home" to those on her, who wanted him to supplement his brief statement that "all Mr. McCormick will say is that he and his wife are not living under the same roof."

Curiously seekers and those who want to know more about synthetic psychology flocked around the hotel Tuesday to get a glimpse of Mrs. McCormick and her teachers she brought back after an exile of eight years in Switzerland.

In the meanwhile synthetic psychology bids fair to become the fad of Chicago's society folks this winter. One of those with whom Mrs. McCormick was in conference today was Dr. Josef Hartmann, a coworker of Dr. Carl Jung, who has been the teacher of the "old king's" daughter for eight years while she was abroad.

McCormick, in handing, took occasion to make one more statement, but not concerning the break with his wife.

The millionaire, who is also the sponsor of the Chicago Grand Opera company, denied a statement attributed to one of his representatives that Mary Garden was no longer connected with Chicago Grand Opera company.

Naughty To Display Too Much Fine Silk Hosiery

By United Press Leased Wire. St. Louis, Mo.—A woman sitting on the edge of a table, wearing fine silk hosiery, abbreviated skirts and her legs crossed is what I consider immoral posing.

Audrey Munson, world famed sculptor's model, made this statement Tuesday just before she went on trial before Judge Miller in the criminal court of correction on a charge of nude posing.

Miss Munson is specifically charged with conspiracy to commit acts injurious to public morals by posing on a platform in front of a screen in the Royal theatre garbed in a gauzy gown with a spotlight thrown on her.

Last Saturday police swooped down on the theatre, seized the film, "Innocence," in which Miss Munson plays the leading role, closed the movie house, whisked the model and her manager, Ben Judell, to police headquarters and booked them on a morals charge. The accused were released on bail.

Counsel for Miss Munson and Judell announced that if necessary the picture would be produced in the court room to show it is "pure."

Several ministers, who saw the picture and voiced their disapproval are to testify.

SEEK WRITER WHO HINTED MURDER

Autopsy on Body of Eastern Multimillionaire to Be Exhumed Oct. 13

By United Press Leased Wire. Lawrence, Mass.—The autopsy on the body of Edward F. Scaries, Methuen multimillionaire reclusive, to "set at rest" rumors that he was murdered by poison" probably will take place in the little crypt of the private mausoleum on the Scaries estate Oct. 13, it was learned Tuesday.

While preparations for the examination of the body were going on, District Attorney Howard Donnell of Essex county was searching for the writer of an anonymous letter which suggested that Scaries was either murdered or his death "helped along."

Donnell said today he believed he had a clue to the identity of the mysterious writer.

Donnell still believes the aged man died a natural death from heart disease and old age.

The Methuen board of health Tuesday received a request from Donnell to exhum the body.

A New York lawyer said to represent executors of the will had a long conference with District Attorney Donnell late Monday. The stranger left without making known his identity and Donnell declined to make any statement about his work.

New York man that Donnell admitted that he had a clue to the identity of the author of the anonymous letter.

MAIL DEFAUDER MUST SERVE FULL SENTENCE

Chicago, Ill.—The United States circuit court of appeals Tuesday upheld the decision of the lower court in sentencing Charles H. Rowan of Milwaukee to serve one year and a day in Leavenworth prison and pay $10,000 fine. He was convicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Rowan was alleged to have advertised guinea pigs and rabbits for sale at $5 each, promising to buy back the offspring of the pairs he sold for $2.50 each. He was alleged to have not fulfilled the promise to buy the young animals.

Senate Will Pass Resolution to Stop Building War Engines During Conference

IS SIMPLE ACT OF FAITH

Easier and Cheaper to Stop Building Now Than After Confab, Borah Says

By Lawrence Martin. By United Press Leased Wire.

Washington, D. C.—President Harding will be urged to stop all work on warships during the disarmament conference, in resolutions shortly to make their appearance in the senate.

Senators Borah, Idaho, and Pomerene, Ohio, will take the initiative in pressing upon the administration the view that a suspension of all naval construction for the period of the conference would be a simple act of good faith by the United States.

Meanwhile the house appropriations committee has virtually decided that the big army and navy appropriations bills which will provide funds for any armament work during the year beginning July 1, 1922, shall not be discussed until after the conference.

Two Reasons Cited. There are two reasons for the committee's decision:

1-To prevent embarrassment to the administration during the arms parley.

2-Because the success or failure of the disarmament conference may dictate military changes.

Congress has until late in June to pass the 1922 appropriations.

Both Borah and Pomerene are of the opinion that such an armament suspension by the United States would make a considerable impression in the world.

"If the world gets to know that America is honest about this disarmament matter the people in other countries will exert a tremendous influence on their delegates to the Washington conference, and we shall end by having all the nations honestly and earnestly seeking ways to reduce armaments," said Borah.

"But how far will we go on building dreadnaughts, cruisers and destroyers while we solemnly talk about limiting naval armaments."

"Of course, we will be told, that the other nations with naval programs are continuing. This continuance will doubtless be based upon financial grounds."

"But to a great many folks in this country it will appear that the way to disarm is to stop building any more engines of war. And it will be a great deal easier not to resume building after the conference than it will be to stop them and a great deal cheaper."

Think of "Dinty" and "Go and Get It," and then find their power eclipsed in Marshall Neilan's greater production, "Bob Hampton of Placer."

For the first time—pictured with every stirring incident—you'll see Custer's Last Stand faithfully, powerfully portrayed on the screen. An inspiring climax.

A two-fisted frontier gambler—and a freckle-faced kid—

That's Bob Hampton of Placer, the man who was "always searchin' fer someone," and Buddy, the boy scout, who roamed the West with him. Inseparable pals. But the pair became a trio when Bob snatched a timid white girl from the Indians, and came mighty close to the "someone he was always searchin' fer." But Buddy sure did hate that dame!

Thrilling frontier days brought back!
Unparalleled scenic splendor!
Magnificent cast headed by Wesley Barry, James Kirkwood, Marjorie Daw!
Hundreds of Indians, scouts, frontiersmen in prairie fights and the stirring climax—

STATE HEAD OF LEGION COMMENDS JOHNSTON POST

More Than 400 War Veterans
Attend Meeting in Elk
Club Monday

More than 400 former service men attended the meeting of Oney Johnston post of the American legion in Elk hall Monday evening, to hear the addresses of E. J. Barrett, state commander, and Austin A. Petersen, state adjutant, both of Sheboygan.

Both officials were guests of the executive committee of the post at a dinner at 6 o'clock in the Sherman house, and conferred with local officers about the winter's program for the legion.

W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school, and Mr. Allen of Neenah visited the meeting and explained evening courses along various lines which were being offered to World War veterans under the Wisconsin educational bonus law. The men were urged to take advantage of the opportunity to learn new trades or improve their education. Enrollment blanks were distributed and a large number signed up.

Two New Projects

Two new legion projects were announced, one an orchestra and the other a basketball team. The orchestra already has been organized by Thomas Morrissey, but additional musicians are needed. Harry Sylvester and Carlton Saecker are forming the basketball squad which will play other teams in this locality during the season.

Commander Barrett told the veterans to maintain a high standard in their post, because that is the only way it can succeed. He said questionable practices were indulged in by some posts, perhaps to earn needed funds, but their influence upon the legion was not the best. He urged formation of a civic committee to take a hand in local affairs, working for good government but keeping wholly out of politics. He commended the post for its work in straightening out county affairs, and also told of the pride of the state organization at the size, attendance and scope of the work of Oney Johnston Post.

Mr. Barrett told of relief methods which are being adopted for disabled or ill veterans. He said it was the plan of Col. Forbes, Chicago, head of regional relief for veterans for the government, to take over some unused military camp and convert it into a vocational city big enough to accommodate 10,000 to 20,000 men.

The commander also mentioned the new state memorial hospital under construction in Madison, for shell-shock victims. Mental cases are on the increase, he said, and the building will be ready for these men about January 1. There will be accommodations for about 400 men in this and other Madison institutions.

Mr. Peterson told about the national convention of the American legion to be held at Kansas City Oct. 30, 31 and Nov. 1. He urged the post to try to send at least one coachful of Appleton men. A railroad fare of 1 cent a mile will prevail if this is done.

Entertainers supplied by John Steidl from Waverly beach and by Manager Henry Gribler from "A Night in Honolulu" which was played in Appleton theater Monday evening supplied the amusement features following the business session. Lunch was served.

NEED MORE MUSICIANS FOR LEGION ORCHESTRA

Work is under way for the organization of the American Legion orchestra. Two rehearsals have been held up to date under the leadership of Harry P. Tondreau, who has been selected as director. Eight instruments have been signed up thus far but more are needed. Much enthusiasm has been shown and predictions are that the legion will have one of the best orchestras in this section of the state.

Rehearsals are held every Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

Appleton Womans Club Is Largest In Federation

Development of Federation Idea Here Largely Due to
Mrs. D. O. Kinsman

Appleton Womans club, the largest federated club in Wisconsin, will be hostess to 400 delegates from all parts of Wisconsin to the silver jubilee convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Womans club Oct. 12 to 14. Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, a former president of the state federation, and one of its most prominent club women is to be official hostess for the club in her capacity as president of the local organization.

When Mrs. Kinsman came to Appleton six years ago from Whitewater, she found only one federated club in the city. That was the West End Reading club which has had an important connection with the federation since its beginning. Two years ago Mrs. Kinsman was chosen as president of the Appleton Womans club, then a hopeful and lusty infant club of about 150 members. The club has grown in two years to be the biggest club in the federation representing 1363 women while Madison has the next largest with a membership of more than 600. Other clubs which have become federated in the past few years are the Wednesday Musicals, and the Monday club. The Kaukauna Womans club is also federated.

The West End Reading club was one of the original federated clubs having joined the federation in its first year, 1896. Mrs. John Paville was one of its first officers. Mrs. Henry Youmans, the third president of the federation who will be one of the honor guests at the silver jubilee celebration here on Wednesday night was president when the West End Reading club was hostess to the federation convention twenty years ago. The Clio club was federated shortly afterwards but has since severed its connection with the state organization.

Clubs in the federation have undergone a change in program. First programs of the federation conventions show that most of the subjects were those of literary and classic study. The present program committee of which Mrs. Kinsman is a member found it difficult to insert anything but subjects of practical community interest. The clubs as a general thing have gone in for civic and community betterment rather than study in recent years, especially since the war.

10 Hours Spare Time Weekly

—this service offers it to every woman

Investigation in a large number of families has brought out the fact that the average family washing included at home takes about a day and a half—this includes both washing and ironing.

And, of course, this applies to homes where laundresses are employed as well as to those without them, for laundresses must have supervision.

If you could gain relief from all this at a moderate cost, and have more time for pleasanter duties, wouldn't it interest you?

Our Family Laundry service offers you that opportunity. We take all your family bundle, wash everything in pure soft water, and rich lathery suds, and nicely iron all the flat work. Pieces that need it, we starch. We leave for you only the ironing of the lighter pieces.

We assume practically all of the really heavy work—work that at home takes about ten hours of the hardest kind of labor—and give you ten hours more a week for the children, and to make home pleasanter.

None of the drudgery; none of the exposure to bad weather; none of the troublesome hunting for and bickering with laundresses—yet the cost is less than that of a washwoman.

Once you've given this service a trial we know you will appreciate it. Phone us, and we will have our representative call for your bundle.

GMEINER'S STORE IN NEW QUARTERS

A. L. Gmeiner will begin his sixteenth year in the confectionery business in Appleton by opening his new store at 751 College ave. on Wednesday. The building which was formerly occupied by the Volgt drug store has been completely redecorated and equipped with a modern soda fountain and with 12 artistic stalls in light oak finish.

The big feature of the new store is the Apollo reproducing piano which Mr. Gmeiner has purchased through the Meyer-Seeger Music company for the entertainment of the guests. This piano reproduces the technique of the artist much as a phonograph does and plays both popular and classical piano numbers. There will be no dancing in the new place.

Mr. Gmeiner is in the store a small part of the time and the management will continue under the direction of Mrs. Gmeiner as in the past. There is no other confectioner in business now who was here when the Gmeiner store was opened.

THE FOX RIVER VALLEY

The conference held in this city by secretaries of commercial organizations, representatives of community associations and farm societies, to consider ways and means for developing the Fox River valley, brings to attention a matter of the greatest importance to city and country throughout this exceptional territory. We say exceptional territory, because we believe that the Fox River valley affords an opportunity for intensive advancement equalled by few localities in the United States. Whether we consider the subject from the standpoint of industry, commerce or agriculture in all its varied phases, or from the standpoint of wholesome and happy living, the attractiveness and offerings of the Fox River valley stand out in bold relief.

First of all, we have the basic foundations for material prosperity in fertile land adapted to varied farm pursuits, including dairying, stock raising, grains, fruits and vegetables. We have a climate which is excellent in few latitudes of the continent, if we are to place the emphasis upon its relation to health, rugged constitution and capacity for work and pleasure. Crop failures are unknown here. For natural beauty and charm our surroundings are unsurpassed. We have a wealth of the finest water in the land, water power, water transportation, water sports and pastimes. We have hunting and fishing that bring visitors from great distances. We are creating a system of highways, the best that money can build. We have history and traditions that appeal deeply to sentiment. Nature has been lavish in its bequests to the Fox River valley.

If we turn to the industrial field, we find manufacturing in a highly specialized and prosperous state. We find diversified industries resting on solid foundations. We find, furthermore, a situation which invites continued extensive industrial development, for we have the primary elements that contribute to successful and profitable manufacturing, viz: Low power costs, whether electric or coal; low priced raw material; low transportation rates, and and transportation facilities which give the Fox River valley a dominant commercial position. We are advantageously situated for distribution. There is unlimited opportunity throughout the Fox River valley for remunerative investment of capital.

The Fox River valley presents a compact locality, whose interests are closely associated and largely identical. By pooling its resources in certain respects, by pooling its energies, by pooling its intelligence, it can promote greatly its welfare and upbuilding. The thousands of tourists who come to this part of Wisconsin annually, love it genuinely and enthusiastically. But at best they gain only a glimpse of its delights and its realities. The many thousands of people who live here have an affection for the Fox River valley equally as strong and satisfying. Those who locate here are quickly absorbed into its activities and become its ardent advocates.

There are thousands upon thousands of people in all parts of the country, less favored by nature or in other circumstances, who would welcome home and occupation in this splendid valley. There are men and women of capacity and means who would be only too glad to cast their lot with ours if they knew more about us and this wonderful country. Judicious, liberal, aggressive advertising of the Fox River valley will sell it to thousands of prospective home seekers and investors. It will bring to the Fox River valley development and new assets and will raise it to the peer of any region in the great north and lakes territory. The plans tentatively discussed in this city for bringing the Fox River valley before the rest of the country should be of absorbing interest to every city and community within it. It invites cooperation tion and unity of action that are greatly needed throughout the valley. It opens the way to a pooling of interests and concentration of effort that will bring returns of incalculable value. We trust the enterprise will be carried through to a successful conclusion. It points to a great future for the Fox River valley.

UNEMPLOYMENT AND APPLETON

No one expected the unemployment conference at Washington to bring about employment or to quicken business and industry. It was simply an attempt of "best minds" in the financial, industrial, mercantile, sociological, labor and agricultural fields to point if possible the way to measures which may tend to relieve unemployment and hasten the country's return to normal prosperity.

The substance of the conclusions of the conference is that unemployment is a local problem. The conference recognizes that both national and international factors enter into the situation, but it is obvious a gathering of this kind cannot undertake the questions they present, involving as they do governmental policies. In the local field, public works, operation of factories on part time, rotation of employees and repairs on buildings are suggested as means for providing employment. Some municipalities will prove more resourceful than others in the organization of improvements, some will find ways and means for road construction and other projects that represent both efficiency and financial gain, whereas others will languish in inactivity and indifference. The same is true of manufacturers. Some will strengthen their sales departments and go out and get business. Some will secure orders in spite of the market or unfavorable conditions and manage to operate their plants. Others will lie down and wait for business to come. It is clear, therefore, that unemployment and prosperity are largely local problems.

We have before us a letter from an enterprising and thinking citizen on this very project as it applies to Appleton. To be sure our unemployment is not so serious as in many, in fact most, cities. Business for the most part is good and we have weathered the depression in a general way in fine shape. But winter is approaching and lack of employment then will be more inconvenient, more of a hardship, than in summer. This writer says: "I proceed on the theory that the demands of the war taught us that we can all do just a little bit more for a common cause. That cause is to furnish work for the unemployed." He particularizes: "Some person needs a little carpenter work, another painting, another paper hanging, and so on, but we have all fallen into the rut of discontinuing these activities by dismissing the thought at this season with 'I'll do it in the spring.'"

This citizen suggests that a meeting be called of industrial heads, bankers, merchants, city and county officials, railroad and labor representatives to consider unemployment and business as they apply to Appleton. "Let us put on one of those war campaigns," he adds "with Appleton's characteristic vim and energy to the end that everybody will do just a little more for the employment of labor over the winter months." It is worth the effort in the comfort we would all be able to derive in making Appleton 100 per cent employed.

If unemployment in a national sense justified the great conference called by the president at Washington, does not unemployment in a local sense justify similar action in Appleton? We would suggest that Mayor Hawes call such a conference.

AT THE MERCY OF THE COURT

Gouverneur Morris, a talented descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, has been in financial straits. Under the poor debtor act, he has been and still is confined to the jail limits of Westchester county.

Mr. Morris told the court in White Plains, N. Y., that he had exhausted all of his resources in an earnest endeavor to satisfy his creditors. He had even, he said, sold his golf clubs.

Some of the creditors must be devotees of this ancient game. It is possible for them to sympathize with him in the extremity of his distress. Imagine Babe Ruth selling his home-run bat. Or Mrs. Molla Björkstén selling the racket with which she vanished Susanne Lenglen.

TELLING AGE OF MISTLETOE

It is a comparatively easy matter to learn the age of growing mistletoe, as each shoot sends out two new shoots each year, and by counting the joints from the root to the tip of any branch the number of years the mistletoe has lived may be computed easily.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

DEGENERATE BOYS

Here is a letter such as frequently comes to me: I am taking the liberty of writing you in regard to my young brothers using tobacco. They are 10 and 13 years old, respectively. I have talked to them, but that won't do. I wish you would tell them the dangers of tobacco. They will pay more attention to what you say, because they often read your advice in the paper, and they think you are about right in everything. The older boy, particularly, is enthusiastic about physical training and has great ambitions to be an athlete.—L. A. A. When a boy, or even a girl, first uses tobacco, the reason is purely and simply "showing off." If the first performance seems, to the weak mind, to have created the desired effect in the mind of beholders, the "showing off" is pretty sure to become fixed. It will not be long, then, before the tobacco habit has control of the degenerate boy—or female moron.

What are you going to do with such degenerates? Appeal to the moral sense? There is little moral sense there to appeal to. Appeal to common sense? Same difficulty. Appeal to intelligence and reason? Why, if there were a glimmer of intelligence the child never would have wished to "show off" in the first place. You'll have to appeal to something that is always there to appeal to, and that is false pride. The degenerate boy is under the spell of himself and his individuality—at least he likes to imagine he has individuality. And in my opinion the best way to appeal to that false self-esteem is by making a public example of the boy—giving him a thorough whipping in the presence or knowledge of the very persons for whose sake he "shows off."

There is sporadic discussion of the demoralizing influence of moving pictures upon the mind of the young. I am very certain that the inevitable cigarette-smoking which is made an important feature of the majority of such pictures encourages boys with defective mentality to emulate the hero's brave display in that little accomplishment. Those who control most moving picture concerns ought to be strictly watched, for they seem to think that anything goes with the American public. Do we want to see the movies? Great Caesar's Ghost! Can any intelligent person doubt that censorship is sorely needed?

The allusion to the boy's athletic ambitions, in the letter I have quoted, is the most ridiculous part of it. In all real life the boy with athletic ambitions knows he must have nothing to do with tobacco. Any athlete or physical trainer can tell him that.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Thermometer
Which is better for home use where there are small children, a two-minute, one-minute, or one-half minute registering fever thermometer? Where does a child get worms?—Mrs. M. W.

Answer.—The two-minute thermometer will stand the racket better, but I advise against the use of a clinical thermometer except in certain cases under the physician's direction. Children become infected with worms as adults do, by ingesting the microscopic eggs or larvae in polluted food or perhaps sometimes in polluted water, and in the case of tapeworms by eating meaty beef not thoroughly cooked. The human or animal host of the parasite gives off the eggs from the intestine, and thus the food of animals like hogs, cattle, cats, dogs, becomes polluted, or man's own food or drink becomes polluted. Young children may infect themselves by bringing their unclean fingers to the mouth. Eggs of parasites have been found under the finger nails. The soil and ground in towns and cities is pretty widely polluted with eggs and larvae of various parasites of the human intestine, thanks to our unsanitary disposal of human waste.

Sweating in Arm pits
Some time ago you gave a remedy for sweating in the arm pits, which was one-half ounce of aluminum chloride in three ounces of rain water. What per cent of aluminum chloride is used in the solution of one-half ounce?—R. A. R.

Answer.—Use one-half ounce of pure aluminum chloride, dissolve it in the three ounces of rain water or distilled water and pour it into the bottle of the remedy and allow it to dry on before dressing, each alternate day for three or four times, at intervals as needed.

HOW "MISTER" ORIGINATED

Master was originally used as a title, but only in speaking of a man of high social rank or learning. It gradually was extended in application, until it has been superseded by "Mr." The obscured pronunciation doubtless began while the written form "Master" was still commonly employed. Before the end of the Seventeenth century the abbreviation "Mr." (originally only one among many others used for the word in any application) had come to be restricted to the use in which the pronunciation was used, and to be the only permitted word of writing the word in that use. Therefore "ward" "Master" and "Mr." were practically two words.

HOW EYEBROWS TELL CHARACTER

There is madness in the meeting of the eyebrows, according to the latest medical theory. Various forms of mental derangement show characteristic anomalies of the eyebrows, and these anomalies tend toward the conventional joining of eyebrows of the villain.

An Italian doctor has found that in dementia praecox (gradual weakening of the mind) there are nearly always short, bushy hairs meeting in the space between the eyebrows, and a noticeable thinning toward the external side.

Thirst And Fur Trades

By Frederic J. Haskin

Montreal P. Q.—This city is rapidly acquiring popularity with visitors from the States. More Americans than usual are here and they are coming from greater distances. Their appreciation of Montreal is not so much due to its being a picturesque old metropolis as to the fifth city of North America, of which fact Montreal is not a little proud. It is chiefly a prohibition which is sending the extra visitors and which is bringing Montreal into fame as the second most beautiful place in the western hemisphere—Havana, of course, being the first.

Last year, Montreal was even more cheerful than it now is. Then liquor was not restricted to beer and wines, and Montreal entertained one convention after another, until it threatened to become the convention center of the continent. But even now, with the province of Quebec limited as to variety of drinks, it is as an oasis in a desert, Ontario next door, being quite dry.

It is said that Montreal will take advantage of its popularity to revive its sports, neglected since the war, when 35,000 of its young men departed to the front, and that it will try to become a winter resort. The Montrealers insist that their section of the country is not a land of chattering teeth in winter, but an ideal, bracing climate. Five or 10 below zero, they claim, marks the depth of the average cold winter day, and from this level the thermometer rises some 10 or 15 degrees in the middle of the day. It is a dry cold with little humidity to make the chill penetrating. Montreal is not the only Canadian city that would like to make winter sports the fashion and itself the "Lucerne of America." But with its special attractions for Americans, Montreal is the most favorably situated just now. If any Canadian city can do it, Montreal should be able to start a fad of skiing, ice yachting, and sleighing among the first families of the United States.

Montreal, however, is not dependent on either liquor or the air cast of a winter sport trade for its prosperity. It is, among various other things, a center of the fur trade, a stronghold of the convent school business where the best French accents come from.

The fur houses are down near the wharves. Tall warehouses make canyons of the narrow, dingy streets. A big building here and there displays a few furs as a portafactory sign, but mostly there are only the names of the companies for advertising. The buyers know their territory.

The Fur Section
To find the furs you have to go upstairs in one of these big wholesale houses where the buyers for the retail trade do business. A long room is lined, on one side with deep racks of expensive furs, protected and divided into cupboards, by red velvet curtains.

On the other side, the length of the room is divided into alcoves with partitions reaching nearly to the ceiling. Each alcove has its gray wicker chair and table where a buyer can sit unobserved by the others and note the styles he wishes to purchase. Between the buyers' and the racks of dark furs, the models parade, and attempt to show off the silky richness of the costly mink, sable and seal.

Furs from all over Canada pour into Montreal and from here are scattered abroad. Some pieces, comparatively few in the bulk of the trade, are carried to the United States by feminine visitors to Canada. The rate of exchange is an attraction, and then too there are said to be alluring bargains in furs here, especially down in the wholesale district.

The products of the convent schools are as interesting to a stranger as furs. Outside of school hours little bands of convent school children can be seen walking sedately along the streets, some with a black or brown robed sister in charge. The girls wear a black uniform with high neck and long sleeves, and generally with some sort of stiff white collar and cuffs. The unusual feature of the costume is that it apparently imposes no restriction on the sort of hat that may be worn, and the combination of a row of somber black dresses topped by bobbing hats wreathed with daisies, forget-me-nots, or gay streamers of pink and blue ribbon, is striking.

There are a great many of the convents. Montreal is a city of institutions. There are innumerable great gray stone piles—hospitals, monasteries, asylums, schools—nearly all under the direction of some churchy organization, and nearly all French. "When you consider that four-fifths of Montreal is French, this is not surprising. The surprising fact is that so much good English is spoken. Most of the people seem to use both tongues. The public schools teach both English and French. Even the billboards are apt to proclaim the excellence of their wares in the two languages.

A Cosmopolitan City
Despite the prevalence of the French, all sorts of types are in parade in Montreal. In a downtown street, you may see a typical Irishman, pipe, smile, umbrella, and high topped felt hat; then a Britisher, with cane, tweeds, and perhaps spats. His London patois is bristling with "cheerio" and "good-bye" with more striking again the French background than it would be elsewhere in the Dominion. It reminds you suddenly that Montreal is British territory.

The American is all over the city too, with his inevitable camera and guidebook, and his exchange of confidence with his fellow travelers about trains, boats, connections, things to see, how not to get stung, the best restaurants, the rate of exchange, and so on incessantly. The French types do not stand out so, by reason of their prevalence, and because they fit into the atmosphere. Their houses, however, are extremely picturesque. In the older quarters of Montreal, long rows of these houses may be seen. They are decorated flamboyantly with scroll work, balconies, spires, towers and dormer windows.

But the quaintest touch is that every one has a flight of steps on the outside going up from the street to the second-floor, occasionally even to the third. Sometimes the steps are spiral; more often they are straight and steep.

This style of architecture was adopted in many instances to divide the houses into flats. One family uses the lower floor, while the other, entering above by a different set of stairs and doorway, is at home in the upper rooms. The same idea has been used in the States, though with what would seem to us the more sensible plan of having the stairs to the upper floor inside the entrance. Especially in a country where winter is a long siege of snow and ice, a flight of 15 or 20 steps to be kept in condition for use must be a discouraging institution.

How the children learn from falling down the steep flights, too, is a mystery. Children scarcely more than babies clamber up and down them unguarded. Apparently the head of a family considers front steps no drawback in selecting a home. Houses with this feature are passed for block after block throughout the typically French districts.

Life in this city involves a good deal of climbing everywhere. Montreal is on a hilly island where the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers join. Mount Royal rises directly back of the city, and the city itself is on anything but a level grade. In one railroad station the third floor at one end of the building is the street floor at the other, and this is not an unusual instance.

The people of the city climb the hills and the stairs without apparent effort or complaint. Montreal is the New York of Canada. The joy of merely living in so great a metropolis seems to be sufficient to make up for any trifling discomforts.

Any considerable length of time by change of environmental conditions. Q. Has anything been done in California and other sections that have suffered from earthquakes to prevent damage from that source. C. A. L.

A. Recently an effort to survey the fault lines in the earth, along which earthquakes occur, from airplane, was made in California and was partly successful. Exact knowledge of these fault lines makes it possible to avoid placing many structures where they are in danger. Building houses of wood rather than brick is considered the best protection against earthquakes. Earthquakes themselves have done little damage in California. It has usually been a fire or some other catastrophe following the earthquake that did most of the damage.

Urges Woman To Start Now To Find Clothes For Needy

Declaring that fall house-cleaning time is the time to remember the destitute children of Europe, Mrs. A. J. McMillan, chairman of the conservation garment production of the Outagamie chapter of the Red Cross, Monday issued an appeal to housewives throughout the county for cast off garments for European relief.

"Now, when many housewives are house cleaning, is a good time to wash and clean any garments that can be spared for this work and later on, when sewing clubs have been formed, these materials will be ready for use," Mrs. McMillan said.

"So far, satisfactory progress has been made in this work. Groups of women have been recently organized in Kimberly, Bear Creek and Greenville and have already begun to undertake the work. A group of Appleton high school girls under the supervision of their sewing teacher, have been cutting patterns for the garments which consist of layettes for babies and clothing for small children. These will be sent to the destitute sections of Europe where there is practically no cloth of any kind to be had for clothing.

"The layettes are to be made from new material whenever possible, but emphasis is being placed upon the making over of old garments into durable garments for little ones."

Mrs. McMillan said that she would be glad to communicate with any group of women in the county who desire to take up this work.

"Yes," nodded one of the green birds. "That's what they call us. Polli-parrots. But where are all the rest of them?"

"The rest of who?" asked Nancy curiously. She hadn't got far enough in school to know that she should have said "whom."

Ben looked relieved. "Then I'll have to start out in the world to hunt them," he said, "and I'm afraid that you'll have to hustle for your own sunflower seeds. Good-bye, everybody, I'm off."

And away hopped Ben without once looking behind him.

"We'll take you home," said Nancy to the polli, and taking a bird apple, the twins wished themselves at the

"Where do you suppose everybody has gone?" wondered Nick.

"Dear knows!" sighed Nancy. "We'll have to help Mr. Sprinkle-Blow to find them."

How To Use Tomatoes

When tomatoes are to be used whole for salads try preparing them an hour or two before dinner and chilling thoroughly. The easiest way to peel tomatoes is to scald them and slip off the skins. A few scalded at a time entails no risk of over-scalding and cooking. Chill thoroughly and the tomatoes will be perfectly firm.

These salad recipes are a bit unusual and may appeal for a company dinner or luncheon.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Salmon and Peas

Four medium sized smooth tomatoes, 1/2 cup cooked green peas, 1/4 cup shredded salmon, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, Mayonnaise salad dressing.

Peel tomatoes and scoop out the inside, leaving a shell about 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle lemon juice over salmon and let stand 15 minutes. Mix peas and salmon with enough mayonnaise to make moist. Fill cavities of tomatoes with mixture, mask with mayonnaise and serve on a bed of lettuce.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Fruit

Four medium sized tomatoes, 1.3 cup pineapple cubes, 1.3 cup apple cubes, 1.3 cup nut meats, cooked salad dressing, 1 cream cheese.

Pare tomatoes and scoop out inside. Mix apple, pineapple and nuts with the cream cheese worked smooth with 1 tablespoonful of cream. Fill tomatoes with this mixture and mask with salad dressing. Serve on curly endive.

Stuffed Tomato Salad

Four tomatoes, 1 green pepper, 1.3 cup diced celery, 1.3 cup shredded cabbage, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, French dressing.

Peel tomatoes and scoop out the inside. Add the pulp to the celery and cabbage and onion. Parboil pepper and chop. Mix the celery mixture with the chopped pepper, parsley and French dressing. Fill tomatoes with mixture and serve on lettuce with a spoonful of mayonnaise on one lettuce leaf.

WOLF PACKS ARE MENACE TO SHEEP

Douglas County Farmers Are Concerned Over Ravages on Stock by Wild Animals

Superior. — Wolves traveling in packs, bears and other wild animals in the southern belt of Douglas county are killing off large numbers of sheep, and threaten to exterminate live stock, according to W. S. Allard, who lives on the rural route north of Minong.

This region was made a game preserve a year ago, and it is illegal to carry a gun in the belt affected. The leader of the pack of wolves is called "Black Back" by Allard. Besides the wolves and bears, Mrs. Thomas Blacklock reported seeing a strange black animal with big yellow eyes, which took to water as soon as she saw it.

"These wild beasts have killed eleven sheep for me in the last few days," Mr. Allard declared.

"I found four sheep dead with their throats torn open and a hole torn in their bellies, but not eaten. Later in the day my wife found two more. One just killed that morning. But the others we couldn't find until late. One had been pulled through the fence near the same place, and dragged a long distance. We could track it by the wool on the brush. It had been devoured about three-quarters of a mile from where they started with it.

"We found tracks larger than any dog tracks I have seen for years. And no dog could carry a large sheep that distance.

"We took the remains of the dead sheep to the barn and the remains were nearly all eaten up during the night. The howling was terrible."

ENDEAVORERS TOLD ABOUT THEIR CLUB

Rousing Meeting is Held in Reformed Church—Eagle Drive Begins

Kaukauna. — Forty-five Senior Christian Endeavorers of Kaukauna Reformed church attended the annual banquet of the society at 8:30 Monday evening in the church basement. Vernon Couillard of Lawrence college, in his address told of the extent of the organization. He stated, that including alumni, senior, intermediate and junior Endeavorers, membership numbered about fifteen million young people throughout the world. The speaker began his talk by outlining the plan of organization in which each unit merged with one higher to form one consolidated organization with but a single purpose.

Mr. Couillard showed that it required the touch of the master hand to bring out the highest qualities of an object. The speaker called upon the young people not to try to carry their burdens alone but to give God a chance. He appealed to them to open their hearts to receive the touch of the Master in order that their highest qualities might be developed.

Elmer Grimmer, president of the society, gave the first talk in which he called upon all the members to co-operate in making a successful year.

He acknowledged the task of the society during the coming year. He said they all do their best for the society during the coming year.

A business meeting followed the banquet and it was voted to combine the financial efforts of the three societies to purchase a piano to replace the organ which is now used by them. Committees which were appointed last spring to secure data for plays to be given by the organization were reinstated and they will begin at once to make for a presentation to be given before Christmas. ISAAR FAMILY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Ray Flanagan and Children Are Thrown Out When Automobile is Struck

Isaac. — On Saturday while Mr. and Mrs. Ray Flanagan and children and Otto Worsch were on their way to Galeburg they met with a serious accident.

At Wakley corner, Rose Lawn, a Ford car owned by A. V. Kenny, Kiel, Wis., crashed into the side and rear of Mr. Flanagan's Briscoe, throwing Mrs. Flanagan and three children through the back curtain, and tipping the Briscoe over.

Mrs. Flanagan was slightly injured about the head and body and the little son Floyd received a cut on his head. Other occupants were badly shaken up, but not seriously injured.

Mr. Flanagan saw the approaching car, and was sufficiently out of the road, but Mr. Kenny admits losing control of the car and instead of applying the brakes, pulled down the gas lever, thus causing the accident.

Both cars are in the E. Dorn garage being repaired.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug-store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

APPLETON'S BIG ACCOMPLISHMENTS LISTED BY MAYOR

People Generally Do Not Realize Extent of City's Efforts

Appleton has accomplished a big program during the last year. Few people realize this but a summary of activities will surprise the average person.

Mayor J. A. Hawes himself was surprised when he sat at his desk Monday morning and listed the accomplishments.

He was answering a set of questions prepared by the Daily Gazette, Janesville, concerning Appleton's problems, its accomplishments and its plans. Janesville is to entertain the annual convention of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities Oct. 12, and the newspaper is preparing a survey by which valuable data will be compiled for the benefit of the city officials who gather to compare notes.

"Our biggest problems, and the ones which I shall list as the outstanding ones, are school buildings, city planning, bridges and garbage disposal," said Mr. Hawes.

The Paving Program

He then turned to a list of things which the council has done, naming as the biggest a paving program amounting to $150,000.

"We thought we ought to wait a year with the paving believing that costs might be lower," said Mayor Hawes, "but we decided to go ahead with what we had in mind. Next year we will do more paving and if we left this year's program over, there would be an accumulation we couldn't handle. Now the pavements are in, and I don't believe there is a paving job done in years that has caused so much favorable comment. People believe the city's appearance was improved wonderfully now that Second-st., upper College-ave., Morrison-st. and a few short strips are coated with asphalt.

"We have spent $60,000 on sewerage, building an addition to our sink sewer system. This has improved the entire city system. We have purchased Pierce park, have established a public campsite for tourists and have constructed many new sidewalks.

$3,000,000 in Buildings

"One thing I believe few cities in Wisconsin can duplicate is the extensive building program that has been carried on here. There is an investment of approximately $2,000,000 in five buildings that are going up. I estimate that not less than $1,000,000 is being spent on smaller projects and homes. The fact that our water department has installed 300 new service connections this year shows the extent of building and improvement."

It is not so much the huge figures into which the building program runs that pleases the mayor as the manner in which this has helped the unemployment situation and prevented Appleton from facing the hardships of other municipalities. Almost all men, except those who were idle because of labor disagreements, had work all summer and probably will not be idle for some weeks to come. Conditions here have been far better than the average, Mayor Hawes believes.

One of the things the city will aim to push next year is the improvement of its municipal water facilities. The water has never been unhealthful and has been distributed through the city mains under unusually favorable tests, but this summer's conditions have shown the advisability of extending the intake further out into the river so it will not be so near the city's sewage disposal. The desire is to remove all danger of contamination.

Problems confronting every city in Wisconsin will be thrashed out at the coming convention which is in session for several days. An exchange of ideas and an acquaintanceship with other city executives also are notable aspects of the gathering. Mayor Hawes expects to attend and hopes to have several other local officials there for all or part of the sessions.

Don't forget to see ROBERT O. BRIGGS, entertainer and humorist, at the Little Chute Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription Hem-Roid, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. HEM-ROID is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at your druggists, who are authorized to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

NEENAH GETS NEW CHEESE STORAGE

State Federation Will Erect Branch There—Work for More Cooperative Marketing

Neenah has been chosen by the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation as the site for a new branch warehouse through which approximately 2,000,000 pounds of cheese will be handled yearly. A special committee investigating several sites decided on Neenah following efforts of its citizens and the farmers to assure its location there, and also because of its transportation facilities.

This move is expected to attract a large number of farmers into the federation. Meetings have been held in various parts of Wisconsin, and many of the cheese factory owners have showed themselves agreeable to disposing of their product through the federation's warehouse facilities and selling organization.

Grading of cheese under the new Wisconsin statute is to begin Nov. 1. It is expected to work hardship on some cheesemakers, but is looked upon as the entry of the cheese business into a new era of marketing.

Cheese will be made more popular all food through advertising campaigns which are already under way. Wisconsin's A-1 brand is to be known as Melo Creme. Low selling cost and disposal at the time when markets are most favorable are the arguments for joining the federation.

This meeting is being held in conjunction with the seventh semi-annual meeting of the Wisconsin League of Nursing education. A helpful and extensive program has been prepared.

THE STAGE

Virginia Warwick

Playing the role of Chichi, in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," which is to be the attraction at the Appleton Theatre beginning Monday, Oct. 10, is the first dramatic work of Virginia Warwick, the former Mack Sennett bathing beauty.

In taking this part in which she enacts the role of a sister of Julio, Miss Warwick is said to have exhibited genuine dramatic ability. This is the ingenious role of the picture and Miss Warwick is said to have put into the part in the early scenes balanced proportions of beauty and girlish coquetry. She is then seen as the young wife whose husband goes to the front, and later she is the kind-sympathetic nurse-wife when her young husband returns a maimed and disfigured youth.

Rex Ingram, who directed "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," and June Mathie, who adapted the famous story, found considerable difficulty in casting the role of Chichi. They cross-examined a number of possibilities, but none proved capable of handling the role.

May Robson comes to the Appleton Theatre Thursday, Oct. 6 in her latest success "It Pays to Smile" written by Nina Wilcox Putnam and published in the Saturday Evening Post as a serial.

The dramatization was made by Ethel Watts Mumford and August Busch, Jr. who secured it for Miss Robson's starring vehicle for this season. Miss Robson is more than delighted with her new role and has worked indefatigably on it to assure as perfect a characterization of "Freedom Talbot" as could be imagined.

Around a quaint old fashioned New England spinster of high birth and no money, a Californian with plenty of money but no education, a girl who has grown up like a wild flower among the orange groves, and Italian nobleman whose loyalty to his country is uppermost in his mind, a rich old man whose hobby is art and the mysterious abduction of a Raphael masterpiece—the story of "It Pays to Smile" has been deftly woven into a beautiful play which fairly sparkles with life and comedy.

NO FURTHER ACTION IN OHROGGE CASE

Motion for judgment has not yet been entered by either attorney in the case of Fred Kirk against William Ohroge for damages of $1,000 which was heard by a judge in municipal court last Thursday and in which a special verdict was returned finding both parties from responsibility for the accident.

Kirk brought action against Ohroge to recover damages for injuries alleged to have been incurred when he was struck by the latter's automobile while riding a bicycle here about a year ago. In stating Monday that no decision had been made in the case, Judge A. M. Spencer said: "It would appear from the verdict that neither one was responsible for the accident because the jury held that neither one was guilty of lack of ordinary care."

START COLLECTING FOR TEACHER FUND

Formal steps toward the administration of the new teachers retirement fund law in Outagamie co. began Monday when County Superintendent Florence Jenkins mailed report blanks to the school clerks of the county and directed them how to make reports to conform with the new regulations.

Clerks are directed to withhold 5 per cent. of each month's pay of every senior teacher. They are forbidden to make deductions from the salaries of junior teachers. A senior teacher is one who had reached the age of 25 before July 1. All others are junior teachers until the end of the present school year.

If a senior teacher is working under a contract made before July 7 this year, clerks are not permitted to deduct more from her salary than was deducted under the old law unless she gives her consent.

Wire Causes Fire

Short-circuited electric wires in the basement of the Oscar F. Welsgerber home, 1363 Carver-st., Sunday night started a blaze that resulted in a call to the fire department. The flames were quenched with a chemical extinguisher before damage was done.

Completing Road

The new concrete highway between Berlin and Green Lake will be completed about Oct. 15, according to present estimates of contractors.

Paul Hackbert was in Fond du Lac Friday evening to attend the first meeting of the Order of Railway Telegraphers of the Northern Wisconsin division of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, of which he is chairman. The new working schedule for operators adopted Sept. 1 was explained by R. D. Boyington, general chairman and D. C. Smart, general secretary, officials of the telegraphers' order, Chicago.

Charm of Motherhood

THERE are many homes once childless that now are blessed with healthy, happy children, because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored the mother to a healthy, normal physical condition.

The following letters give the experience of two young women and prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Chicago, Ill.—"I was always tired, my head always ached, and my back ached until I could hardly stand the pain. I doctored for years, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, and that I could not have children. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles of it and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have a fine baby boy, thanks to what your medicine did for me in restoring my health. I can highly recommend the Compound to all women who suffer from female ills."—Mrs. Wm. Reiss, 304 Willow St., Chicago, Ill.

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a very nervous condition, was irregular, and could not have any children. I took doctor's medicine without success, and he advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon felt benefited by its use, became regular, and now we have a fine baby girl after having been married nine years. I am always glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer from such troubles."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

BEST LAWRENCE TEAM IN YEARS, BADGERS DECLARE

University Football Instructors Amazed at Lawrence Defensive Play

Down in Madison they still are talking about the showing which Lawrence made against the University of Wisconsin in the football game Saturday afternoon. Hundreds of fans who expected to see the Badger team, regarded as one of the strongest in recent years, run away with the Blue and White, were amazed by the staunch resistance to the Badger attack and how they cannot say too much in favor of McChesney's men.

The most unstinted praise comes from the Badger athletic mentors themselves. Coach Meanwell of the basketball team, and athletic director at the university, declared after the game that it was the best team which Lawrence had sent to Madison in recent years and he also predicted that the score will look still more favorable to Lawrence after Wisconsin gets through with some of the conference teams. Meanwell is confident that much more overwhelming scores will be piled up in the conference.

Coach John Edwards of the football team was frankly surprised at the Lawrence defense. He was of the opinion that nothing could stop his backfield, conceded to be the best in the west, but he changed his mind when he saw the Lawrence forwards crash through and nail the runners. It didn't take the instructor long to realize that no gains could be made through the line and he ordered his men to carry the ball around the ends and resort to tricks and passes.

McChesney started his men Monday night on a number of new plays in preparation for the contest with Stevens Point here next Saturday. Not much is known of the normal team except that it always gives Lawrence a fight.

Sport Views And News

A fighting spirit is necessary to win football games. No matter how much skill or brawn a team has, it can hardly hope to win unless it can fight. Lawrence has that fighting spirit. McChesney's men sailed into the University of Wisconsin team last Saturday with so much pep that the Badgers had all they could do to hold their own. The high school team lacked pep in the first half of Saturday's game and for awhile Menominee ran away from it. In the second half the boys began fighting and then Menominee looked poor. If the boys build up a fighting spirit, the state high school championship is within their grasp.

Preliminary plans for the state bowling tournament have been completed and the first ball will be rolled on the Madison alleys January 26. The pin game is making rapid strides in Wisconsin and early indications point to a record entry list at the 1922 tourney. There will be a healthy representation of Fox River valley teams and the Green Bay bowlers, who are going after the 1923 pin fest will be there will be no.

Tomorrow the world series starts. The eyes of the baseball world will center on Gotham and practically every nook and corner of the U. S. A. will be anxiously awaiting returns from the Polo Grounds where the Giants and Yanks are booked to clash in the diamond classic. There is little love lost between the New York teams and it promises to be one of the hardest fought series in the history of the national game.

The old saying—youth will be served—doesn't hold good in Ty Cobb's case. The brilliant manager of the Detroit Americans experienced one of his greatest seasons in organized baseball and came within a fraction of a point of carrying off the batting championship in Ban Johnson's circuit. Tyrrus appears to be just as fast as ever and he is possessed with more pep than the youngster recruit from the big leagues. Like Johnny Kilbane, Cobb doesn't seem to grow old.

PLAYERS MAY DIVIDE QUARTER OF A MILLION

New York—If the Giants and Yanks play to capacity crowds on the players' pay days of the series—the first five days—the players will divide a pool of about $245,430, 49 per cent to the winner and 49 per cent to the loser.

The estimate is based on a sell out of 12,000 boxes at $5, 15,000 reserved seats at $5, 2,000 unsold at $3, and 12,000 bleachers at $1.

As each club has twenty-five players, including coaches, the winners would receive $5,590 each and the losers about $3,920.

The greatest individual winners' share to date was that received by the Reds for the money world series of 1919—$5,207.11. The White Sox that year received the greatest individual losers' shares—$2,254.35 each.

DEMPSEY SUED FOR $100,000 IN FILM SUIT

Batavia, N. Y.—Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight boxer, appeared in Supreme court on Monday as defendant in a law suit resulting from an alleged breach of contract for the production of motion pictures. Frank P. Spellman of Batavia, the plaintiff, demands $100,000 as his share of the profits in the enterprise. Dempsey's lawyers deny any obligation on the part of the champion, legal or otherwise.

What's A Pennant To John And Hugh?

Ho hum! What's a pennant? So yawns John McGraw and Hughie (the Yab) Jennings, the veteran pilots of the New York Giants.

Six times has John led the boys to a league pennant and three times did Jennings steer his Tigers to the music.

Now they have combined their years of experience and are pulling a double steal on the National League.

Besides leading the league six times, McGraw has finished with the Giants in second place seven times, once in third and twice in fourth.

And Hughie, outside of his three firsts, has landed the Tigers in second place twice, in third two times and in fourth place three times.

Old Teammates McGraw and Jennings are old team mates. They played together on the famous Baltimore Orioles and they had helped that club to the championship in 1894-95-96.

Jennings started out as a catcher, but when with the Orioles was considered one of the greatest shortstops of the game, while McGraw played brilliantly as third, for nine successive seasons batted better than .325 and at one time led 'em all in base running. Jennings himself was no slouch on the paths, for during those balmy days he stole 60 bases in a single season.

When Baltimore dropped out of the circuit in 1900 the owners sold McGraw, along with Robertson, to St. Louis. McGraw went to the Giants during the middle of the 1902 season, and they finished in last place. In 1905 he brought them up to second place and the next season won the league pennant.

Hugh Progresses It was in 1907 that Detroit got hold of Jennings as a manager, and the first season under his direction the Tigers finished in sixth place, and going John one better, he won the pennant the very next year.

In the years before Jennings came to Detroit, only once did the team finish anywhere near the top of the pole.

Jennings was born in Pittston, Pa., on April 1, 1870. He started in the coal mines and his ball playing, limited to Saturdays and Sundays, attracted so much attention that Chapman, manager of the Louisville club, grabbed him off. His presence on the Baltimore club was accounted for through a trade.

McGraw in the past led the Giants to six league pennants and capped one world series.

(EH-YAH) JENNINGS STEERED THE TIGERS TO THREE PENNANTS—BUT NEVER WON A WORLD SERIES.

McGraw was born in Truxton, N. Y., April 7, 1873, and after dabbling around the village got his first chance as a pro with the Ocean team of the New York State League. It was through his sensational playing here that he was signed up by the Baltimore club.

BRANDTS TO PLAY MILWAUKEE TEAM HERE ON SUNDAY

Brewers to Play Two Games in the Fox River Valley Over Weekend

The barnstorming Milwaukee Brewers will be here next Sunday to show Appleton fans how baseball is played in the American association. The Brewers will play at Menasha on Saturday.

No changes are contemplated in the Brandt lineup. There is a possibility that Braby will play the shortstop position, returning Bergerino to second. The Brandts probably have all the errors out of their systems now and will give the Brewers plenty of trouble.

The feature game of the Fox River valley Sunday will be the battle with the Brooklyn Nationals and a team composed of Oshkosh, Menasha and Kimberly men at Oshkosh. Stevenson will pitch that game. Heath, Sylvester and at least one of the Lamers boys are expected to play with Oshkosh.

Menasha has announced that it will strengthen its lineup for the Brewer game. Brautigan probably will play third base, Brooks, formerly of Oshkosh, is to go in the outfield, and Runke, Kimberly man, will catch. This will present a formidable front to the barnstormers.

GIANTS HAVE AN EDGE IN PITCHERS

New York—Pitching always decided the world series says John J. McGraw but remembering the fate of the all star Brooklyn staff last year, the doctrine seems anything but infallible.

Every one figures perhaps rightfully, that Arthur Nehf is the best pitcher in the ranks of McGraw and that Carl Mays is the best thing in the way of a puzzle that the Yanks will have to offer in the series.

The Yanks while they do not love a lefthander have faced pitching as good as Nehf can put over, but the Giants have faced an underhand pitcher with the cunning and skill of Carl Mays.

Mays might be the hurler to put over the decisive game in a tight series. The Giants ought to know Waite Hoyt, the boy wonder, because it was for the National league champions that he left the high schools lot in Brooklyn. When the Giants know a pitcher they generally have a means of beating him without using their bats.

Phil Douglas, the squirrel hunter, may be McGraw's choice for the second, or perhaps the first game. He has been going good all season with a guardian at his side and he has turned in some great ball games.

Huggins is almost as bad off for pitchers. He has Shawkey, who has been bothered all year with a sore arm and Harry Harper, a wild erratic southpaw who always seems doomed when they start "waiting them out."

Jack Quinn is just about through and Huggins would never think of starting Collins or Piercy in a series game.

The Giants seem to have the edge on pitching because they have more finished veteran performers. New Yorkers think that McGraw is too proud to have Ruth passed in the series.

2 WRESTLING GAMES AT KIMBERLY MILL

Superintendents to Form One Squad—Arthur Wundrow, Trains Men

Plans are being made by the Kimberly-Clark Co. to put another wrestling team in the field this season. Arthur Wundrow, former Lawrence college mat star has been retained to coach the millmen. It is planned to put two teams in the field this fall. One will contain practically the same personnel as that of last year while a team composed of mill superintendents will make up the second team.

An extensive schedule is being prepared and the mat aspirants will start training at once.

The following letter men have signified their intentions to try for this year's team. Arnold and Clarence Pocaan; Orville Albers, Harry Coppen, C. C. Crowe, Maitias and Martin Verhagen. Meets are being arranged with Lawrence college, Niagara, Little Chute, Kaukauna, and with the Sport Club of Green Bay.

Ben Furnace, L. J. Sensenbrenner, Roman Schmidt, Con Riggles, P. A. Paulson and John Ritten will answer the call for the superintendents team. It is understood that a challenge will be issued to the "supes" team of the Niagara mill.

RUTH HOLDS RECORD FOR SCORELESS INNINGS

New York—Babe Ruth, outfielder, may be through as a major league pitcher but he still holds the record for consecutive scoreless world's series innings established when he was pitching for the Red Sox.

The feeble Athletics slammed Ruth for six runs in the eighth inning of Saturday's second game. Just after the Yanks had won the flag. But Ruth can point to 29 consecutive scoreless world's series innings, which is one more than even the great Christie Mathewson may claim.

After being scored on in the first innings of the second Red Sox-Brooklyn game, Ruth shut the Dodgers out for 12 innings, winning an extra inning game, 2 to 1. Babe next pitched the world's series ball against the Cubs, shutting them out in nine innings. His next "out" against the same club, in the same series, he went along for several innings without being scored on. He won both games.

BABE HOPES TO BREAK RECORD AGAIN IN 1922

New York—Babe Ruth, homerun king and star batsman of the 1921 American league champions, on Monday announced his 1922 batting campaign plans. Ruth, whose fifty-ninth homerun was one short of the season mark he had for himself, said he would make another effort to reach the three score total next year.

"We'll go gunning for that sixty mark next season," the Yankee slinger declared, "and I have a sneaking hunch that I'll make it."

Ruth's 1921 record is five better than his 1920 performance.

BOWLERS MEET TO FORM CITY LEAGUE

A meeting of bowlers interested in organization of a city league will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Eagle hall. Formation of teams has been started but there still is room for more good men.

It is proposed to organize a league of ten teams made up of most of the best bowlers in Appleton. A schedule is to be prepared.

This probably will be the biggest bowling league in the city and probably the largest in Appleton's history. Officers are to be elected at the meeting and other arrangements are to be made.

Troops 1 and 2 were scheduled for their first practice Monday afternoon under the supervision of competent football men of Lawrence college.

Further arrangements will be made by troop 1 at a meeting at the high school at 7:15 Tuesday night.

Gotham Ball Fans Unable To Find Seats In Big Park

Thousands of Fans Will Be Unable to Get Chance to See Series

By Henry L. Farrell
By United Press Licensed Wire
New York—New York today was wrestling with the problem: "How am I going to get into the Polo Grounds?"

With the world's series starting here Wednesday between the Yankees and Giants, the baseball lust took a firm grip on Manhattan.

John Heydler, president of the National league, was pulling his hair and flourishing a sheaf of telegrams:

"There were eleven thousand boxes in Chicago and there are only 1,400 here. How can I take care of them?" he moaned.

The rooters were faced with the alternative of going to the scalpers or journeying to Coogan's Bluff before sunrise and standing in line until the fog lifts over the Harlem river.

Every little detail for the series had been completed this morning. There was nothing else to do but to open the gates and put the players in their new uniforms.

The umpires probably will get together today with the managers of the two clubs and decide upon uniform ground rules for the series. The rules of the two leagues vary slightly on a "dead ball off the back stop" and the time for the home teams practice.

"The umpires have been appointed and every detail has been arranged. Looks to me like they're all ready to play," Heydler said today.

Judge Kenesaw Landis, commissioner of baseball, is established at the Commodore hotel where also are most of the baseball celebrities and out of town writers. Ban Johnson, president of the American league, was to arrive today from Chicago.

Every one who is in anyway connected with the game is being trodden down for tickets and there is none to be had. The Yanks and the Giants have signs out with the notice that boxes and reserved seats are gone. The business managers of both clubs said they could have filled 100,000 seats on the checks that are now in their offices.

The pilots of the two clubs were reticent today.

"Of course I favor the Giants but I am not making any promises," John McGraw said.

"I have faith in the Yanks after the way they came through the hard pennant race but the series is another thing. I believe we will be there."

Miller Huggins, the pilot of the Yanks said.

Neither manager would give a hint of his pitching selection. McGraw, however, is figured to favor either Artie Nehf or Phil Douglas, while Huggins is almost sure to start Carl Mays, his bulky ace.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBER CAMPAIGN OFF TO WONDERFUL START

Two Hundred Campaigners in Annual Drive for 1,500 "Y" Members

They're off! More than 200 workers, brimming over with "pep" and enthusiasm generated at a dinner in Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening, are visiting practically every man in Appleton to secure his membership for another year in the balloon race for the 1921 goal of 1,500. Reports to be made at a second dinner at 6:30 Tuesday evening are expected to show that the biggest part of the 3-day job is done.

A large scoreboard placed in front of the Y. M. C. A. building will show the progress of the campaign. A balloon representing each team will ascend a scale as the memberships are reported. A painting representing Appleton, prepared by Dr. Ferron, is beneath the balloons on the scoreboard.

F. J. Harwood, president of the Y. M. C. A., acted as chairman of the meeting. He introduced the speakers and expressed confidence

After the men had sat down a group of about 100 boys entered the gymnasium chain step fashion, marched around several times and took their places. All this was to illustrate how the "Y" makes a tremendous appeal to the biggest men in the nation and industry. No arm of the church does more for the salvation of the country's youth, he said.

Leaders Give Talks

E. E. Dunn, campaign chairman, said the spirit developed in such institutions as the Y. M. C. A., was that which would solve all our problems. He expressed the confidence that the workers would not fail and called on one leader from each of the four divisions to speak briefly.

Secretary George F. Werner explained the details of the campaign, saying the workers had their case and organization and all they needed to do now was to cover the ground. Cards then were distributed and each worker assigned a prescribed number of men to visit during the day.

Workers were told to obtain as many contributions as possible from men who would pay for one or more memberships for boys who could not afford to join, or for men whose unemployment might prevent them from remaining a member. Results will be checked up at dinners Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

IRON CAGE KEEPS SHARKS FROM DIVERS

Havana, Cuba.—Probing the mysteries of the deep! Battling with man-eating sharks!

Bringing up the bones of ancient Cuban political prisoners.

That is what divers are doing off Morro Castle, on the entrance to Havana Bay, in their search for sunken treasure.

During the Cuban insurrection Spaniards slit the throats of Cuban prisoners and sent the bodies down a concrete chute, in Morro Castle, to a bed of man-eating sharks.

At this same point, in the bay, the Spanish gunboat "Sanchez Barcater-gui" was sunk.

Later it was learned that the ship's strongbox contained gold and silver. Attempts were made to locate the money, but, after sharks had killed several divers, the search was given up.

Recently Armando Andre, captain of the Port of Havana, ordered all sunken craft cleaned out of the bay. The Cuban Salvaging Company obtained permission to remove the remains of the "Sanchez Barcatergui," with the understanding that if any treasure were located it would belong to the company.

Armed with sharp knives, two divers, risking their lives for high wages, were lowered 130 feet below the surface. Five sharks attacked one of them. He fought them off and both men were hurriedly pulled to the surface.

Divers thereafter refused to go down into the shark bed.

Then the salvaging company built a reinforced steel cage that was shark proof.

Since then the bones of many men have been discovered and much of the old war craft hauled to the surface.

RAILROADS LOOK FOR RESUMPTION OF GOOD BUSINESS

Superintendent Instructs Railmen to Keep Close Watch on Cars

The first indication of a prospective resumption of business is embodied in a letter G. J. Quigley of Antigo, superintendent of the Ashland division of the Northwestern road, has written to agents, conductors and yardmasters of the division which reads:

"Indications are that we will handle quite a heavy business during the month of October and every car, with the exception of ore cars, will be needed.

"It has been a long time since such a condition has confronted us and your particular attention is directed to the matter in order that car utility may receive particular attention as to loading and unloading and movement.

"It will aid materially in taking care of our own requirements on the division by keeping constantly after each individual car, to urge prompt loading as well as unloading, and when loaded to see to it that there is no delay in the movement.

"Keep train dispatchers fully advised of your requirements and report all cars on hand for which you have no loading so that disposition may be furnished promptly and cars moved to point where we have loading for them.

"There must be no loss of business for want of cars and if such a situation is threatened wire me promptly giving full particulars.

QUICK IMPROVEMENT FOR "RUN DOWN" PEOPLE

Through Use of Garren's Tonic Thousands Have Regained Ruggedness of Youth

Thin, weak, sickly and "run down" folks can notice an improvement in their condition from the first few doses of the new preparation which is attracting so much attention by its wonderful effect on the human system.

That's because Garren's Tonic cleans the stomach, liver, kidneys and intestines of the waste matter which is causing these organs to be inactive, and enables your stomach to digest the food you eat so your blood will become pure to nourish the nerves and build healthy tissue to give you strength and endurance.

Every bite of food you eat contains the necessary vitamins to give you health and strength. But if your stomach is out of order and cannot digest and assimilate your food to nourish your system, it don't take long for you to become nervous, irritable, weak, thin and sallow looking, with frequent headaches and habitual constipation.

Garren's Tonic is sold in Appleton by the Schlims Bros. Co., in Kaukauna by E. A. Meyer, in Greenville by H. H. Schulze, in Dale by Abundant Pharmacy, in Bear Creek by John W. Statler, in Seymour by S. G. McCord, and by the leading druggists in every city.

Crisp Mornings

are on the calender for very soon. There'll be one such morning when you'll wish you had long sleeves and longer legs to your underwear and maybe a trifle more weight.

Beat that crisp morning to it and get that underwear now. We have it here for you in just the kind you'll want.

BRITISH EMULATE U. S. RAIL MERGER

John Bull Found It Cost Him a Staggering Sum for Government Operation

By Milton Bronner

London.—John Bull has just found that operating his 23,709 miles of railway during the war and after is costing him almost as much as it cost Uncle Sam to take over his 365,387 miles of railway.

A rough estimate shows that John Bull's loss in railway operating will cost him over six hundred million dollars.

Great Britain took over all the railways on the very day she declared war on Germany.

Under the financial arrangements the government was to guarantee to the stockholders a net revenue equal to that of 1913, which was the best year in the railroad's history.

Although railway revenues steadily increased owing to higher freight and passenger rates, expenditures likewise increased.

For under government control the eight-hour day was instituted, higher wages were paid and the cost of coal has been steadily rising.

The government gave up the railways on August 15 last, but not until a bill had been passed which will revolutionize the railway situation in Great Britain and make it easy to nationalize the roads. If that project is revived.

Ends Competition
The most vital and striking thing about the bill is that it practically provides for the abolition of competition. The object is to cut out waste.

Under the bill, England, Scotland, and Wales are divided into four districts.

WESTERN RAILROAD RATES TO BE CUT

Special to Post-Crescent

Washington.—Twenty per cent of the total railway tonnage west of the Mississippi will be affected by a rate revision ruling which the Interstate Commerce Commission will issue before the end of October.

This ruling will reduce freight rates on hay, wheat, corn, barley and all other grains and their products in states west of the Mississippi and in Illinois. Commission officials have not yet agreed how great the reduction will be.

The grain rate revision probably will be the first step of a series of reductions, affecting all agricultural products. Officials will neither deny nor confirm this, but they admit that agitation for reduction on farm products is very strong.

Farmers point out that "liquidation" is complete so far as the agricultural industry is concerned, save for the price of wheat. They are persistently demanding that the handicap of high freight rates be removed.

Scout General Cut
A rumor that the Interstate Commerce Commission is planning big general freight rate reductions, circulated widely in stock exchanges and shipping centers, is scouted by commission officials.

They declare flatly that there can be no general reduction as long as labor and coal, constituting 70 per cent of railway operation cost, remain at their present level.

Sailors Send Threat
Shanghai.—Sailors of the Chinese navy in Shanghai have threatened "drastic action" if they are not paid their last month's salary. They say the promise of the ministry of the navy has not been kept.

Wenels Attack Girl
Oamaru, N.Z.—Little Lizzie Thomas, going home from school, struck a wenel with a stone. The wenel screamed and six others attacked her. A farmer drove them off.

"THE HOME OF FINE PIANOS AND PLAYER PIANOS"

The "EASY" Is Here To Stay

The principle of washing clothes by air pressure and suction was first used in the "EASY" in 1877—then a small hand-operated machine which gradually developed until the adaptation of electricity made possible the present "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE.

The demand from housewives for "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINES necessitated the erection of the largest and most modern Washing Machine Plant. (See illustration above.)

The "EASY" is operated by electricity. The two cups inside of tub wash the clothes by air pressure and suction. They move up and down sixty times per minute. On the downs stroke, the air in the cups forces the soapy water through the mesh of the garments. On the up stroke, the suction of the cups draws the soapy water through the mesh. This harmless method forces water back and forth through the clothes sixty times per minute and removes all dirt or foreign substances without the least friction, rubbing or wearing of the clothes.

You can confidently trust your daintiest laces and lingerie, as well as your woolen blankets and flannels to the "EASY." It will wash them spotlessly clean.

Won't you give the "EASY" a chance to do your next week's washing and let it convince you that it will do better work with less effort than any other washing machine.

New Whip Hand Drives Senate

Watson, Desiring Congress to Stop "Stalling," Becomes
Impromptu Leader

WAS "BLOODLESS REVOLT"

Republicans Now Have a Program and Are Committed to Rush Tax Legislation

By Lawrence Martin
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C. — Republican leadership in the senate has undergone a change by means of a "bloodless revolution," senators said Wednesday. As a result, Senator Watson of Indiana, stands as the actual Republican leader, while Lodge, Curtis, Cummins and Penrose play relatively minor parts.

There has been no change in the formal organization, which recognizes Lodge as leader, Curtis as whip and Cummins as president pro tem. Penrose remains as head of the finance committee. But Watson, having assumed the reins for the purpose of getting action on the tax bill, is now regarded as the real chieftain.

Watson's leadership came upon him in this wise:
He grew disturbed over word from the administration that an early adjournment of congress, for at least the opening days of the disunion conference, would not be objected to. Watson canvassed the senate. Democrats told him if Republicans tried to adjourn congress with the program uncompleted they would be pilloried.

On Sunday Watson told Harding at the White House congress must be kept on the job. Harding agreed.
Watson Monday told Penrose the time had come to make out a program, announce it to the country, and then put it through. He urged Penrose to permit himself to be interviewed and formulate the program in the interview. Penrose demurred. Watson then said he would make a speech to the senate, announcing the Republican program. Penrose changed his mind and gave out an interview, in which he said the tariff wasn't dead. Senator Lodge was still leader, and the Republicans were going to press for as early action as possible on taxes.

Des Moines Clamors for Return of Street Cars After Trying Bus Transportation

By United Press Leased Wire
Des Moines, Iowa. — After six days without street cars, Des Moines has found that being the only townless city in the country has more liabilities than assets.

A conference in Chicago Wednesday between A. W. Harris, owner of the Des Moines trolley cars, and other city transportation systems, and W. E. McKinley, owner of interurban interests in many parts of the middlewest, including several Iowa lines, which obtain power from the Des Moines trolley system is expected to iron out several disputed points in the local controversy, leaving the way clear for resumption of street car service within probably six weeks.

A franchise, drawn up by the Harris interests, is now under consideration by the city. It is expected early next week will be placed before the city in an election, probably Nov. 5. The franchise provides for elimination of buses and restoration of an 8-cent fare.

Cold weather and inadequate shelter by the buses have aggravated the cry of the city for street cars. Prospects for immediate car service, however, are still hazy.

TALK PRO-PLEAGUE PARTY
Split in Democratic Ranks Expected if That Party Ratifies German Treaty

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington. — Two critical situations are developing—one inside the Republican party and the other in the Democratic party—which may have a far reaching effect on American politics.

The Democrats are split over the treaty with Germany and the Republicans are at sixes and sevens over a sales tax as opposed to the tax bill passed by the house.

Several of the most influential men in the Democratic party have stated privately that if the Democrat senators do not stand together as a unit against the German treaty, they will withdraw their support from the party henceforth. The congressional elections are not far away. The Democratic senators, who are eager for party harmony see storm clouds ahead. This much is assured—if the German treaty is ratified by the aid of Democratic votes, it will be a long time before the sore will be healed. It will split the party wide open and there is already talk of forming a liberal party to be composed of pre-league Republicans, and pro-league Democrats.

As for the controversy inside the Republican party, it is fraught with much danger but the chances are it will not do permanent injury. The fact is the farmer-labor coalition threatens to embarrass the Harding administration more than has been apparent on the surface. The true significance of Senator Smoot's advocacy of a sales tax at the very time when the Republican leadership of the house is sticking to the older methods of taxation is just becoming clear.

Senator Smoot is a staunch friend of Mr. Harding. He isn't the kind to throw monkey wrenches in the machinery of Republican progress. He wouldn't be championing a sales tax if he didn't have encouragement from the White House. He has lined up behind him also about 21 Republican senators, most of whom are well known as members of the inner circle of the administration. Postmaster General Will Hays in a recent speech at Cleveland said kind words for the sales tax though he doubted whether it could be applied at once. Broadly speaking there is more sympathy for the Smoot program than is admitted at the White House. One explanation for the reluctance of Mr. Harding to commit himself on the subject is that from the first he felt he ought to keep an open mind and permit the situation to develop without executive suggestion. The sales tax has been variously pronounced as, politically dangerous and economically unsound. The prejudice on the latter ground is slowly being overcome but Republican leaders in the house still insist that no sales tax can be devised which will not pass the burden on to the ultimate consumer in which case the American people might show their resentment at the polls a year hence.

The affinity for a sales tax among administration Republicans proceeds, however, from another set of circumstances. The farmer-labor group is determined to see that the taxes on transportation, especially freights, are repealed at once. That knocks out about $131,000,000 which will have to be made up out of those two items. The sudden turn to a sales tax is really based upon the theory that if the farmer-labor group will agree to it, they can gracefully withdraw their opposition to the repeal of the excess profits tax because the sales tax idea is designed to do away with all sorts of taxation and reduce the whole formula to collections from only four or five sources of revenue.

COUNTY TO SPEND $50,000 LESS ON HIGHWAYS IN 1922

Total Appropriation Will be $240,000, With $226,000 to be Raised Here

A tentative budget calling for appropriations amounting to $240,000 for road improvement and maintenance work in Outagamie co., next year was drawn up at a meeting of the county highway and bridge committee Monday afternoon.

This amount would be $50,000 less than the budget of the present year. The various items of the proposed budget are: $50,000 to meet federal aid on highways; $18,000 for two miles of concrete pavement on the trunk line north of Seymour; $50,000 for two miles of concrete pavement on the trunk line south of Stephentown; $28,000 for highway patrol work; $17,000 for the county state road and bridge fund; $13,000 for construction of a shed to house highway machinery. Appropriations for the proposed budget would be raised as follows: $162,000 by a direct tax of two mills which is the same as the levy for the current year; $50,000 by bond issue or direct levy; $14,000 to be received by the county as its portion of state automobile license fees; $14,000 to be raised by the county to meet the amount received from the state. This would mean that the county would have to raise $226,000 of the proposed budget for road work in 1922 as compared with the total budget of $290,000 raised in 1921.

BABE RUTH FANNED TWICE
Rushing Attack in First Inning
Takes McGraw's Men

By United Press Leased Wire
Polo Grounds, New York. — Facing Carl Mays, the New York Giants became the first casualty of the annual baseball harvest here this afternoon. Playing like champions with a dash and spirit in their game, the Yankees got the jump on their home town rivals by winning the first game of the world's series 3 to 0.

Mays, the ace of the American league pitchers, was the trump card in the Yankees' fist. The Giants spent most of the cool, crisp afternoon walking up to the plate and walking back to the bench. They were whipped from the time the big Yankee pitcher went to the mound and their procession looked like a cortege.

The big stacks of the Giants connected safely only five times and four of them were poked out by Frank Frisch, the brilliant young third baseman who was the whole team in the field and at the bat.

The Yankees started off with the sound old baseball policy of getting the jump early. In the first inning the great Bambino Ruth hammered in a run. Miller led off by singling through Rawlings. Peckinpaugh sacrificed him to second and the Babe smashed a single to center and the run was over.

Again in the fifth inning the Yank attack delivered. McNally opened the inning with a two-base out to left field. He reached third on Schang's sacrifice and pulled the unexpected on Douglas by stealing home in front of his eyes.

Bob Meusel took a hand in the festivities in the sixth inning when the American league champions again shoved over a run. Peck, the field general, opened the inning with a single and scored when Meusel slammed to center field for three bases. He failed to touch first, however, and was out, but the run counted.

In marked contrast to the attitude of the Yankees, the Giants played a listless game, seeming to lose spirit and hope early when they could not handle Mays.

Phil Douglas, the "shuffler" pitched a good game but he could not hold the Huggins men in the tight places. He was finally taken.

H. Martin. Much of the success of the pageant depends on the effects which the music adds to the scenes.

In preparing the music, Mrs. Martin has assembled such well known selections as will convey the idea of the scene clearly. During the pageant, which tells the history of the struggle from 1880 to 1884, "Chanson Trieste" will be played softly by piano and organ. The first action of the first part will be accompanied by "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" when the Red Cross is commissioned.

to take charge of suffering humanity and the second action is accompanied by De Koven's "Let Us Forget," sung by the "Red Cross" trio, composed of Harold McGilgan, Clement Hackworth, and George Michelson.

"The music for the services of the Red Cross as shown by the five parts of the second action is largely popular. The community nurses' activities are emphasized by the music of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," while "A Long, Long Trail," "Till We Meet Again," "Rose of No Man's Land" will be played during the Red Cross office scene. The march from "Aida" accompanies the third action, descriptive music adapted to the disaster scene accompanies the portrayal of the activities of the Red Cross in time of community tragedy. Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" will be played during the last action when the Junior Red Cross activities are shown. "God of Our Fathers" and "Pomp and Circumstance" will be played during the grand assembly at the end. The two buglers will march forward, sound "assembly call" and the entire procession marches from the back of the house to the stage. The pageant will end when the entire audience sings, "America the Beautiful."

For the sake of your babies
see our baby today

FOR years this has been our hope—to develop a small hot-water radiator-boiler that would warm a modest home as perfectly as our larger heating plants have warmed mansions, cathedrals, and even the White House itself.

ARCOLA is the practical fulfillment of that hope. ARCOLA is the baby of the American Radiator Company.

It is unlike any heating plant you have ever seen. It is boiler, radiator and water-heater combined—as handsome as a fine phonograph and costing hardly any more.

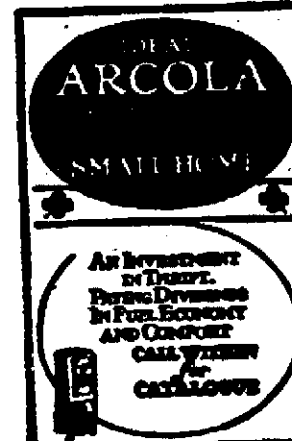

ARCOLA creates and radiates warmth in the room where it is placed, and connected with American Radiators, it will heat every other room and provide hot water for bathing and washing as well.

Comfort, security and health are ARCOLA's gift; and it pays for itself in an amazingly short time. The price is so low it will surprise you—50% higher last year than now.

For the sake of your whole family—your babies especially—go to your Heating Contractor and see our baby today.

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (formerly called Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a very great deal.
